

Neck Pain Radiating to Arm

Condition

A 51- year - old female, presented with neck pain and pain radiating into her left arm and into the Fourth and Fifth digits of her left hand. This pain went into her arm when she was doing activities that brought her arms in front of her, such as driving or typing, as

Medical Assessment

Cervical compression failed to aggravate the arm pain, as did shoulder depression and traction of the neurovascular bundle.

Treatment Suggestion

Our suggested clinical plan is to address the malalignment of the patients' spine through gently applying the KKT® treatment device.

Results of Treatment

Treatment began, and the radiating pain was soon resolved. The neck pain remained a bit longer, as a deep nagging ache. Patient was advised on proper sleeping position as well as computer ergonomics. Following a couple more weeks of treatment, the neck pain gradually resolved as well and the patient was able to return to her activities pain- free.
